

I do not personally conduct business with the banks that are petitioning; however, I do not believe it necessary for those banks to telephone customers to conduct their everyday business. I deal with four different banks and not one of them needs my telephone number to conduct any business with me.